It impersonal

It y There: describir o indicar que hay

Usamos it para hablar del tiempo, la hora, el día, la fecha, la distancia o cuánto se tarda. Para decir que hay algo, usamos there is o there are; con varias cosas, there are: There are two clocks. En pasado puede ser there were. En preguntas, va detrás del verbo: Is it cold? Are there any clouds? Al empezar una frase usamos mayúscula; dentro de ella, minúscula.
