Verbos de estado y de acción

Have: tener o realizar una actividad

Have cambia de uso según su significado. Para tener algo, una familia o una característica usamos presente simple: I have a bike; she has blue eyes. Con I, you, we, they y plurales va have; con he, she, it y nombres singulares, has. Have también aparece en actividades: have lunch, comer; have a shower, ducharse. Si están ocurriendo ahora, usamos am, is o are y having: She is having lunch. I lleva am; singulares, is; you y plurales, are. Una actividad habitual también usa simple: I have lunch at noon every day. Aquí usamos have sin got y sin contracciones.
